Have DVD - now need to organise an event at home... Clean up, pretend the house is normally tidy, mow the lawns....:laugh:

1 day of location scouting, 1 & a half days of filming and there we have it - a half hour episode with roughly half of it on geocaching! The other half on adrenalin based activities. Where did all the film go? A good time was had by all though... And not a mention of a blunt pencil anywhere :silly:

I watched the episode on a 19" LCD, then a 29" TV then the 100" projector! Yup! Straight after each other and it just got better!

I will organise an event as soon as I can then send some copies further afield for others to do the same.

It is actually very good - and explains geocaching brilliantly! I already have plans to show it to a nearby Council!

Kevin.
